

WIFE IN ASYLUM FIGHTS BARUCH IN ANNULMENT SUIT

Guardian Asks $5,000 for Defense of Woman Now in Bloomingdale.

The first step in the legal fight to prevent the annulment of her marriage to Hartwig N. Baruch, millionaire banker and broker, of No. 69 Broadway, was taken in the Supreme Court today when Mrs. Annie N. Baruch, through her special guardian, ex-Judge Henry A. Gilderseave, asked Justice Coburn to allow him $5,000 to prepare the wife's defense.

This is the first indication that a contest would meet the banker's efforts to obtain his marital freedom from his wife of sixteen years, who, after bearing two children, is now an inmate of Bloomingdale Asylum.

Baruch was married on April 15, 1900, in Buffalo. Five years later, he alleged, he discovered that Mrs. Baruch was afflicted with dementia praecox, and in 1905 she was committed to Bloomingdale.

Five months before Baruch filed suit through Nicol, Anable, Lindsay & Fuller, he was sued in the Municipal Court by Milgrim & Bros., tailors, for two dresses made for "Josephine Baruch, known as and introduced by Baruch as his wife."

BUSINESS MAN GETS 10 DAYS IN WORKHOUSE FOR ANNOYING GIRL

"I Ought to Make It Thirty," Says Magistrate in Passing Sentence.

John Dolliva, who lives with his wife and children at No. 478 East Eighth Street, Flatbush, and says he is in the export business at No. 111 Broadway, Manhattan, was sentenced to ten days in the Workhouse by Magistrate Geismar in the Flatbush Police Court today for annoying Miss Genevieve Walsh, a telephone operator at the Hotel McAlpin. He made a futile plea to be spared the disgrace of going to jail.

Miss Walsh is eighteen and pretty. She lives at No. 1660 Sixtieth Street, Brooklyn. She told Magistrate Geismar that when she entered a downtown subway train at Thirty-third Street last night Dolliva began jostling her in an offensive manner. She says she changed to an express at Fourteenth Street and he followed, persisting in his unwelcome attentions. As she was ascending the stairs at the Atlantic Avenue station she says Dolliva caught up with her and said:

"Hello, dearie! Where are you going to-night?"

Dolliva said he had no recollection of the incident. He offered the statement that he had been drinking as an excuse for the conduct ascribed to him. Magistrate Geismar congratulated Miss Walsh on her courage in coming to court.

"I'm going to teach you a lesson," Dolliva said the Magistrate. "I hereby sentence you to the Workhouse for ten days. I ought to make it thirty."

Dolliva's face blanched as sentence was pronounced. He pleaded with Magistrate Geismar to bear in mind the fact that he was married, the father of children and a reputable business man.

"I considered all those things before passing sentence," said the Court. Dolliva's finger prints were taken before he was transferred to the island.

1,200 Tennis Shoemakers Strike.

BOSTON, R. I., Nov. 2.—Twelve hundred lawn tennis shoemakers at the plant of the National India Rubber Company struck today for higher wages. Officials of the company said only one-third of the force walked out and that other employees had remained at work.

BOY RUN DOWN BY AUTO.

Injured Probably Fatally While Examining Steam Roller.

A steam roller in front of St. Michael's parochial school at Fourth Avenue and Forty-third Street, Brooklyn, was an object of interest to many of the pupils during the noon hour today. Charles Black, ten years old, of No. 555 Forty-sixth Street, walked out on the roadway to examine it and was struck by an auto owned by Charles Kiehlmeist of No. 324 Seventy-ninth Street, and operated by his chauffeur, Thomas McKernon. At the Norway hospital it was said he could not recover.

Special Offering of New

Pianos and Player Pianos

The forthcoming edition of the 1917 Chickering catalog eliminates several Chickering styles now in vogue, and such instruments as we have in stock in those particular styles will be offered tomorrow at very special prices.

The group includes several modern Grand and Player Piano styles—new in every particular and rare purchasing opportunities indeed. The only reason for re-pricing is as explained: that they are not included in the new catalog of styles.
